

ROBERT BACON

Robert Bacon was born on an army base in Fort Leonard Wood, Missouri. Coming from a military family instilled in him a patriotic love for his country.

Robert grew up on a farm in the Midwest listening to country legends George Jones, Loretta Lynn, The Oak Ridge Boys, and The Statler Brothers. But it was the musical talents of Alan Jackson and George Strait that developed a love and passion in Robert to pursue country music. He has spent his musical career playing at fairs, festivals, and venues from Kansas City to Kentucky to Nashville.

Robert is married to the love of his life, Jessica, who has been by his side since 2011. He's enjoyed being a father to his step-daughter, Lauren and a proud military dad to his son, Tylor, a Marine Veteran.

Recently Robert has released, "Out Of The Blue", his new song that will be on his upcoming EP out in 2024.

What truly stands out is Bacon's voice—a rich timbre delivered powerfully and emotionally at the same time.
